Do you like to implement your own ideas, contribute to a scientific event, take responsibility within an international team of students? In this project, you will plan and organize a scientific event (e.g., conference, workshop, science slam, etc.), conduct it (focus during winter semester) and subsequently publish or document results (e.g., proceedings, video, etc., focus during summer semester). Basic knowledge in project management and science communication, handling of different media (esp. for public relations and documentation), interdisciplinary thinking, and much more will be practiced. Languages used will be German and (mostly) English.

The seminar can be enrolled by all students, including international students, and all students of RMU. All participants can earn ECTS points. According to the examination regulations of your subject, the seminar can be included in the master model profiling, profile 3, supplementary qualifications/ Prüfungsordnung im Mastermodell Profilierung, Profil 3, Ergänzende Qualifikationen.
